

Officials to Hear Account of Generals

By NICK LUDINGTON
Associated Press Writer
ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Officials from the Pentagon were in Ankara today to hear two U.S. Army generals' account of their three weeks' detention in Soviet Armenia. Washington ordered the generals to make no public statements, meanwhile.

One high-ranking American said that to avoid aggravating American and Turkish relations with the Soviet government, the public may never be given the answers to many of the questions being asked.

Maj. Gen. Edward C. D. Scherrer, the head of the U. S. military mission in Turkey, and one of his assistants, Brig. Gen. Claude McQuarrie Jr., were on a tour of Turkish bases on Oct. 21 when their small twin-engine plane landed at Leninakan, just over the border in Soviet Armenia. They were accompanied by Turkish Col. Cevat Denli and Maj. James P. Russell, the pilot of the Army plane.

The four men were released Tuesday, Russell reportedly told U.S. consuls from Moscow who visited them during their detention that he got lost when an up-draft hit the plane and thought Leninakan was Kars, his destination 40 miles inside Turkey.

A Turkish crew went to Leninakan and flew Russell to Kars in his twin-engine Beechcraft Tuesday after the generals and Denli had been handed over at the border.

Unhatched and looking tired, Scherrer and McQuarrie said on their arrival in Ankara that they were treated well but their experience was "not pleasant."

They spent Tuesday night with their families before sitting down with the investigators from the Pentagon.

Turkish military sources suggested that the generals were doing some sightseeing along the border when they were blown across it. These sources said the plane made an unscheduled overflight of the ruins of Ani, the medieval capital of Armenia, which is right on the border.

One question being asked in Ankara was why the Turkish radar network failed to pick up the plane as it flew across the border. The Turks searched for the plane for a day and a half before the Russians announced they had it.

Turkish sources said the aircraft apparently also eluded the Soviet radars, though there were also unconfirmed reports that it was forced down by MIG fighters.

British Veto Resolution on Rhodesia

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Britain vetoed an Asian-African resolution on Rhodesia in the U.N. Security Council Tuesday night, calling it an attempt to dictate conditions for working out a settlement with the breakaway state. It was Britain's fifth veto.

Twelve of the 15 council members voted for the resolution, and the other two—the United States and France—abstained. Although only nine votes were needed for approval, the negative by one of the five permanent members killed the resolution.

The resolution called on Britain "not to grant independence to Southern Rhodesia without the fulfillment of majority rule." It was aimed at bringing down Prime Minister Ian Smith's white-minority regime, which declared the African territory independent from Britain five years ago today.

Britain's chief delegate, Sir Colin Crowe, served notice before the ballot that his government was prepared to cast the veto. He called the resolution an attempt to dictate conditions for a settlement with Rhodesia "from the outside," and he said this was unacceptable to Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government.

Britain says it is exploring possibilities for reopening negotiations with the Smith regime on the basis of principles approved in the past by both the Labor and Conservative parties.

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost told the council his government also objected to the resolution's demand that Britain refuse independence without majority rule. The United States joined Britain last March in voting against a resolution that would have required all U.N. member states to cut all ties with Rhodesia. It was the first U.S. veto.

The resolution vetoed Tuesday was sponsored by Burundi, Nepal, Sierra Leone, Syria and Zambia. Those voting for it were the five sponsors and Nationalist China, Colombia, Finland, Nicaragua, Poland, Spain and the Soviet Union.

Soybean Outlook Good

On a program arranged by Kiwanian Mike Kelly, Irvin Townsend of the Southern Grain and Elevator Corporation was the guest speaker at Tuesday's meeting of the Hope Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Townsend discussed various aspects of the Soybean industry, naming a number of varieties that mature at different times and have a different oil content.

Experimental work is now being done in an effort to produce a bean variety with a greater oil content.

Mr. Townsend stated that the first season of operation of their company in excess of 150,000 bushels of beans were handled and he predicts that this season this will be increased to somewhere near the 600,000 bushel mark. The bean outlook is quite good according to Mr. Townsend who feels that our county should gross about $2,000,000 in Soybeans this season.

Ricky Renshaw, son of Kiwanian Gordon Renshaw, was a guest at Tuesday's meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

Announcing this Tuesday, Al-lix B. James, president of predominantly Negro Virginia Union, said it was not known how much money would be involved.

Information on Kidnaped American

By MICHAEL BURNS
Associated Press Writer
MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — After weeks of silence, the Tupamaro guerrillas have again let some information filter out about the American agronomist and the Brazilian consul they kidnaped more than three months ago.

An Argentine news magazine published an interview with Claude L. Fly, the American soil analyst kidnaped by the guerrillas Aug. 7, and Aloysio Mares Dias Gomide, the Brazilian consul abducted July 31.

Uruguayan police reported receiving a letter from Fly that said: "We are innocent victims of conflicting political forces within a foreign country in which there is growing hate for the U.S. government and big U.S. business interests because of what they are doing or have done."

The letter was typed and was stamped with the Tupamaros' emblem, a five-pointed star in a circle. Fly's wife said it appeared authentic.

The interview was by Vivianne Koestler of Panorama magazine, who said Dias Gomide had expressed hope he might be released but had also expressed fear he might be killed as was a third captive, Dan A. Mitrone, an American adviser to Uruguayan police. Mitrone was kidnaped July 31 and was murdered after the Uruguayan government refused to free a large number of prisoners as ransom.

Miss Koestler said she asked Fly if he was a CIA agent, and he replied: "That's an absurdity." But she said he told her that some other technicians sent to Latin America "did not come as I have come."

Dias Gomide said he and Mitrone were in the same room for about five days at the beginning of their captivity but were separated by a dark curtain and unable to see each other.

"We were able to speak a word or two," Dias Gomide said. "He was wounded. I heard how they cured him."

When the Tupamaros kidnaped Fly, Dias Gomide and Mitrone, they demanded freedom for all convicts they considered political prisoners in exchange for the release of their captives. Later they said they would release one or both of the surviving hostages if the government would permit a guerrilla manifesto to be published in local newspapers. The government also refused this demand.

Mrs. Fly, who has appealed repeatedly for publication of the manifesto, said after reading the latest letter purportedly written by her husband: "We are back where we started. It is the same plea for publication of the manifesto."

of postponement.

"In at least one jurisdiction, a municipal judge has reset cases without notification to the witnesses so that cases could be dismissed for want of prosecution," Scott said.

Scott said many courts in Arkansas had judges who were not legally trained and he suggested that the "legal profession look to its own house to counter the cynical attitude toward the courts."

He said it cannot be denied that the crime picture is made worse by guilty persons who remain free through procedures which postpone adjudication for an unreasonable length of time.

Scott said that in the mind of the average American citizen, crime was the most serious domestic problem.

"We have revolutionaries abroad in the land and they are bombing colleges and public buildings and robbing banks and killing people," Scott said.

He said the people's concern was reflected by the sudden passage recently by Congress of the Organized Crime Control Act.

Scott said State Police were preparing to mount a statewide campaign to reduce burglary and larceny in 1971.

Under development now, he said, is a computerized criminal justice system designed to speed up the entire criminal justice process. When in operation, police will have available instantly the criminal histories of Arkansas criminals and law violators.

"We are about to declare total and continuous war on those relatively few people who literally live by crime," Scott said.

Ham Going After GOP Chairmanship

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Everett A. Ham Jr. has written members of the Republican state committee formally announcing as a candidate for state chairman of the party.

Ham, who helped Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller build the Republican party at the grass roots level in the 1960s, included with his announcement a copy of an article from the July 10, 1969, Morrilton Democrat in which Ham's role in party affairs was discussed in detail.

The chairmanship is also being sought by William Kelly, chairman of the Pulaski County Republican Committee, and Charles T. Bernard of Earle, vice chairman of the state committee and an unsuccessful candidate for the U.S. Senate in 1968.

Ham went to work for Rockefeller in 1961 shortly after Rockefeller decided that he could best organize the Republican party as its national committeeman. Ham's official title was assistant to the national committeeman. Unofficially, he said, he was in charge of party organization.

Angela Davis Indicted on Three Counts

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Black militant Angela Davis has been indicted on murder, kidnapping and conspiracy charges stemming from a courthouse shootout here Aug. 7 which was fatal to four persons.

In an eight-page indictment Tuesday, the Marin County grand jury charged the 26-year-old former UCLA philosophy teacher began plotting as early as last Feb. 16, the day three black prisoners at Soledad Prison, nearly 100 miles south of here, were indicted on charges of killing a white guard.

The state alleges the courthouse incident was part of a plot to take hostages and force the release of these three prisoners.

Miss Davis was not accused of being at the scene of the shootout, but California law holds accessories to such crimes equally guilty with participants.

Miss Davis is in a New York jail fighting extradition to California on a Municipal Court warrant charging murder. She was on the FBI's 10 Most Wanted List until her arrest Oct. 13 on a federal warrant for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Earlier Tuesday, Miss Davis issued a statement saying "there is no evidence whatsoever" for what she called "the framed up charge" against her.

"Hundreds upon hundreds of American revolutionaries have been confronted with a fate no different from mine," said the self-avowed Communist.

The new charges levied in the indictment said she plotted the seizure of hostages with Jonathan Jackson of Los Angeles, 17-year-old brother of George Jackson, one of the three accused in the guard's killing at Soledad Prison.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Intruders," NBC's Tuesday night "World Premiere" feature, was a sort of Western tossed salad that combined horses, fists, a fast-gun lawman slowed by fear and post-Civil War discrimination against Indians and half-breeds.

The story, set in Madelia, Minn., had the ring of authenticity with one of the menaces the Jesse James-Cole Younger gang roving the countryside. The central figure was Sam Garrison, a sheriff who once was Billy the Kid's nemesis but had lost his nerve.

Lest this be too little for a two-hour story, there was also a brooding young half Indian, Billy Pye, who was Garrison's deputy, raging at the white man's treatment of his mother's race.

In spite of all this, "The Intruders" crawled along like an overloaded stage coach until about the last half hour. Then came the big shootout between the outlaws and the townfolk, followed by Garrison's showdown with a young hot-head who wanted his badge.

Don Murray played Garrison as if he were an elderly sleep-walker. John Saxon was properly tempestuous as the Indian.

A few hours after word of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's death was received, NBC opened its early morning "Today Show" with a film-clip obituary and some reminiscing about the general's World War II years by David Schoenbrun, former correspondent in Paris. CBS reorganized its Tuesday night "60 Minutes" to include a discussion of De Gaulle by a former ambassador to France, Charles E. Bohlen; a former commander of allied forces in Europe, Gen. Lauris Norstad, and a career diplomat, Robert D. Murphy.

There will be live coverage of the former French president's funeral and memorial services, via satellite from Paris, starting at 4:45 a.m. EST Thursday.

CBS plans to replace "Ted Mack and the Original Amateur Hour" with the "Animal World" series when the football season frees that Sunday afternoon spot. The nature series hosted by Bill Burrud has appeared on all three networks for limited periods in recent seasons, a handy replacement show since it comes with a pet food sponsor.

Mack's vintage program is not yet moribund: His sponsor is attempting to find a new time spot or outlet for the show.

Under normal circumstances this might be an easy request to meet, but her foster parents are the 300 inmates of Tucker Prison on Farm.

James Dean Walker, a convict who is Tucker's assistant chaplain, says, "It's hard to get us all together."

Georgia, whose father is dead and whose mother is in ill health, was "adopted" by the inmates more than two years ago.

Each month Walker has written to Georgia on behalf of the inmates and received a letter translated from Greek in return. He places copies of the letter on the prison's bulletin boards.

"Your interest gives great courage to me because you wish to make me understand that I will be a useless person if I do not get a good education," her latest letter reads.

"I am so happy to know that the thought of God gives consolation to you in the prison. I go to the church on Sundays and on holidays and I pray for your well-being."

It costs the inmates $192 yearly to support Georgia through the Foster Parents Plan. The inmates have voted to continue that support until she is 18.

When she was adopted, the money came from inmate donations.

Walker said some sold their blood to contribute, and some gave up cigarette and commissary money.

The support money now comes from the Inmate Welfare Fund. This fund consists of profits received from the inmate-run store at the prison.

In addition, the inmates also have put together gift packages of soap, ribbons and combs for the girl.

Walker, 30, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of a North Little Rock policeman, says that adopting a foster child was his idea.

Conditions at the prison caused Walker to begin the program at the prison.

He said he saw some 14 and 15-year-old boys at the prison who were in jail "due to neglect." He said some came from broken homes and were there "possibly because someone did not care out there in the free world."

The inmate newspaper, "Kons-Kite," said the adoption of Georgia was "a plan showing love, kindness and concern for someone less fortunate than even the inmates themselves."

The paper said, "Georgia will not be forced to live in the poverty, loneliness and despair that so often imprison the less fortunate in the world."

Last Christmas, the inmates decided to help someone closer to home.

They played Santa Claus to two needy families who lived a short distance from the prison. The inmates collected clothing and toys, repaired the items and wrapped them in Christmas paper for the families.

Foster Child Wants Picture of Parents

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Georgia Pavlidaki, an 11-year-old Greek girl living on the island of Crete, has asked for a picture of her foster parents.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED for it, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

PARANOID WITH JUST CAUSE, OR JUST PLAIN PARANOID?

Dear Helen:

This retired couple lives in the nice suburbs, yet they're scared witless.

First they got an unlisted phone number, understandable what with all the slick solicitors. But now they've put a sign on their door: "If you aren't expected, don't ring, because we will not answer." They're deathly afraid of "attackers," so if some DOES ring without previous warning, they sit and quake until he goes away.

It boils down to: Unless you have their unlisted number or call them beforehand, forget it. And people DO lose numbers. It's a pretty pass when the only way you can contact a neighbor in the next block is by the U.S. Mail!

Is this over-reacting to crime statistics? -- NOT THAT CAUTIOUS

Dear Not:

For my money—yes! But to each his own paranoia. Anyway, it eliminates visitors, known and unknown. Also friends!

A chain lock and peep hole, or an intercom system, are usually sufficient for the fearful. These satisfy curiosity while still offering protection. — H.

Dear Helen:

I've been reading a lot about psychic phenomena lately. Tell me, Helen, do you believe in reincarnation? I mean are you interested in "coming back?" — WISHFUL

Dear Wishful:

Heck, I'm not even interested in GOING! — H.

Dear Helen:

I just wish I'd read your column on "Don't tell everything" a year ago.

I also had an abortion when I was younger. Last year, before I was married, I told my fiancé everything, thinking he was broadminded and no prude.

Well, I found out men can be broadminded about other women, but their personal reaction is something different! This caused many tears for both of us, opened old wounds that had almost healed, brought questions that hurt but didn't help.

We would have been much better off if I'd kept my big mouth shut. My husband even says so himself — now! We don't talk about it any more, but the word "abortion" makes us freeze.

You're so right, Helen, if confession isn't necessary — that is, if the past can't affect the present, but is over and done with — a mutual "Forget it" pact is the best policy. — MRS. BIG MOUTH

So why should a woman feel she must confess to her future husband? A man doesn't tell his wife about past affairs (unless he's bragging, or stupidly lets her worm it out of him) — which he's bound to regret! So why does a woman feel she must pour it all out? I'm with you, Helen. — QUIET ONE

Dear Helen:

Any woman who won't tell me ALL the details of her past, isn't going to be my wife! And if I thought she was lying, I'd dump her. After reading your suggestions that women keep quiet, I may even insist on a sworn affidavit. — TOM

Some Suspicion on Microwave Ovens Lifted

By G. DAVID WALLACE Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has begun eliminating some of the suspicion cast over microwave ovens last January when a survey showed one-third of the quick-cook ovens emitted excessive radiation.

Most important accomplishment since the survey, according to federal officials, is correction of the industry's initial failure to provide for maintenance and repair that would keep the ovens safe in use.

So far, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has issued safety clearances for all models of Amana, General Electric and Yoshida microwave ovens. The department has also cleared the newest models of Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward and Westinghouse.

Working on a model-by-model basis, officials expect to clear all of the microwave ovens in the nation by the time new radiation emission standards go into effect next fall.

An estimated 120,000 microwave ovens are in service in U.S. homes, institutions, restaurants and vending machines. Another 75,000 are sold every year. Sales are expected to rise to 1.8 million, or 25 per cent of the oven market, by 1976. About 40 per cent of the ovens now in use are in homes.

The ovens, which generate a type of radiation identical to radar, can bake a potato in four minutes.

The Florida Department of Health has reported detecting eye damage among microwave oven repairmen. Cataracts and burns have been reported from excessive doses of radiation among technicians. Sterility and blood damage have been reported in experimental animals.

Last January the government reported a survey showed 51 of 155 ovens checked leaked more than 10 milliwatts of radiation, the voluntary maximum standard established by the industry in 1966. Laboratory tests showed some leaking 20 times the voluntary standard.

Robert L. Elder, director of HEW's division of electronic products, said in an interview the industry was generally producing ovens which were safe coming off the production line.

Bruce James Grades Out All-America

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Charley Coffey doesn't grade on a curve. Nobody has to make an "A" in his class. Coffey, defensive line coach at Arkansas, goes through the game films diligently — lowering the grade for individual players for each mistake they made in the previous week's game.

Two grades in the 90s and you graduate an All-American. The last two weeks, in games against Texas A&M and Rice, Razorback defensive end Bruce James has received marks of 91 and 90.

"That means he did his job 90 per cent and that's unusual," Coffey said. "We say that 65 per cent is winning football."

Coffey said he couldn't remember giving such high grades to a player on successive weeks.

Coffey said some players boost their grades with the big plays — fumble recovery, pass interception, etc. Not so with James.

"This type of thing against Rice last week was at a minimum," Coffey said. "He wasn't in a situation where he could do this."

"Rice kept running off tackle and sometimes Bruce was in a three-on-one situation," Coffey said. "He read the blocks well. He's disciplined to what he's going to do, and what we are going to do. In a situation like that, what we fight for is to whip the double team and he did just that."

Coffey said before the season started that the 6-3, 228-pound senior from Moss Point, Miss., had the ability of a Steve DeLong or a Lloyd Phillips, both Outland Trophy winners. Coffey coached DeLong at Tennessee and then coached Phillips during his senior year at Arkansas.

"I think definitely that if we were playing the same scheme of defense that we were playing in that era, Bruce would be doing the things they did," Coffey said.

Last week he played the double-team blocks without us stunting," Coffey said. "He can slip around a block sometime when you don't really see how. There was one time last week when he was lined up head-up on the tight end and the wing-back was blocking down on him. He worked around the both of them and was standing there waiting on the runner."

Coffey says James is a "lot tougher mentally and physically than he's ever been before."

James, who was hampered early in the year by some cracked ribs he suffered in a car accident in August, has undergone four operations since coming to Arkansas.

"The thing about him is that he has probably overcome more than anybody else to play at Arkansas," Coffey said. "You have to give him a plus for that."

Rated Teams Must Avoid Letdowns

By HERSHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It's showdown time in the Big Eight and look-ahead time in the Big Ten.

Fourth-ranked Nebraska, one-half game ahead of Kansas State in the Big Eight, entertains the Wildcats in Lincoln. Ohio State and Michigan, tied for the Big Ten lead and ranked third and fifth, respectively, must avoid letdowns before their shootout one week hence.

The Buckeyes travel to Purdue this weekend while Michigan is at home against Iowa.

Kansas State at Nebraska—Wildcats are on probation from postseason play but that can't stop them from winning the championship. The Cornhuskers, however, can. Nebraska.

Ohio State at Purdue—The last time the Buckeyes came to Lafayette, Purdue was ranked No. 1, but Ohio State replaced the Boilermakers with a 13-0 victory and went on to become 1968 national champions. Woody Hayes' eleven hasn't put it all together yet, despite seven straight triumphs, and if they're looking ahead to Michigan, look out. But ... Ohio State.

Iowa at Michigan—Hawkeyes show signs of coming around after some early stagers, but this may be the knockout blow. Michigan.

Stanford at Air Force—This is a game to make defensive backfield coaches weep. Stanford, third in passing offense behind Jim Plunkett, and Air Force, fifth in passing with Bob Parker. Coach John Ralston says his Rose Bowl-bound Indians have two immediate goals—as high a national ranking as possible and the Heisman Trophy for Plunkett. Believe it or not, defense may tell the story and the edge there belongs to ... Stanford.

Georgia Tech at Notre Dame—Irish are No. 1 in the polls. Last year they had some trouble with Tech in Atlanta, but this time they should ramble over the Ramblin' Wreck. Notre Dame.

Georgia at Auburn—Gilbert of Georgia and Sullivan of Auburn play musical footballs. Auburn. UCLA at Washington—Dennis Dummit and Sonny Sixkiller duel at a distance of 100 yards with pointed footballs. UCLA.

Syracuse at West Virginia—Ben Schwartzwalder is a West Virginia grad, so this one will be emotional. Orange is rolling toward a bowl bid and hurts people. West Virginia is already hurting. Syracuse.

Princeton at Yale—Last season, a late Yale field goal cost Princeton an outright Ivy League title. No such worry this year. Yale.

Oklahoma at Kansas—Upset special of the week as Sooners look ahead to Nebraska. Kansas.

Improvements to the park include a new dining room at the north end of the grandstand.

Boog Powell Gives Orioles One Award

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — John Wesley "Boog" Powell is awesome evidence the Baltimore Orioles can win something besides the World Series.

The baseball world was beginning to wonder.

Earl Weaver was edged by the Yankees' Ralph Houk for manager of the year. Minnesota Twins pitcher Jim Perry captured the Cy Young Award over the mound triumvirate of Dave McNally, Mike Cuellar and Jim Palmer.

Then came Boog.

Powell, a blond behemoth at first base, Tuesday was named Most Valuable Player in the American League. The Orioles at last had a hero who made it.

Powell lounged beside the pool of his expansive Miami home after learning he was the MVP. Boog's midsection exploded over a pair of Bermuda shorts. He washed down the news with a can of beer.

"I'm prouder and more excited than I ever thought I could be," he said. "It's the biggest thing that ever happened to me."

Powell is 29, a middle of the roader agewise on the powerful Big Bird Machine between the elders such as Frank and Brooks Robinson and the exciting kids like Jim Palmer and Mark Belanger. He hit .297 with 35 homers and 114 runs batted in.

"We're not an old club and the young players look fantastic," he said, sounding more like a team owner than a first baseman. "You don't ever like to call your team a dynasty, but if any team ever looked like a dynasty, we do."

Powell's house is 20 miles south of the Orioles' spring training headquarters at Miami Stadium. He's about 150 miles up the Overseas Highway from Key West, where the name Boog Powell was once as acknowledged for football as baseball.

"Boog" has been his nickname since his childhood in Lakeland, Fla. It was coined by his dad, who claimed young John was a mischievous little boogier.

"I was a 225-pound high school tackle and 6-foot-2," he recalled. "I signed a football scholarship at the University of Florida, but backed out when the Orioles offered me a $25,000 bonus."

Baltimore's bid in 1959 was healthy, but nothing when compared to the multitude of six-figure bonuses being passed out in a talent bidding war.

"They were giving $100,000 here, $100,000 there in those days. I wanted my 100, too, but was happy to get the 25."

After his rookie season at Appleton, Wis., Powell's life was changed. Baltimore skipper Paul Richards converted him from an outfielder with less-than-antelope speed to a big, mobile first baseman.

Now, a decade later, he's the first man fulltime at his position to become MVP since Jimmy Fox in 1938.

Powell won't say what he'll ask the Orioles in the way of 1971 salary, but it's a safe bet the request will top $100,000. Despite his affluence, plaudits and zest "for winning the Triple Crown and everything else in sight," Boog lives a surprisingly simple life.

His home is minutes from Biscayne Bay, where Boog goes mackerel fishing in his 18-foot boat. If the catch is large enough, maybe it'll feed his lovely wife, Jan, 4-year-old Jennifer or 7-year-old John Wesley Jr., who is called "J.W."

There's a Broadway Joe's restaurant down U.S. 1 a piece, but nowhere in sight is a short-order stand named Boog's Burgers or the like.

"I'm holding onto my money," he says. "I've seen too many athletes go busted in those businesses, especially restaurant chains. I'm not hooked up with anything."

Powell has grown three inches higher and 35 pounds wider since high school. "It gets tougher every year to take off the weight in spring training. I'm going to make a strong effort to watch it this winter, banquets or no banquets."

Powell had little trouble with any pitchers in 1970, but said over the years "it's been the crafty, smart pitchers that give me fits. Minnesota's Jim Kaat buffaloes me. And I'm darn

Odds Wizard Sees Success in New York

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — If you bet $2 on a longshot in a horse race, asks Jimmy the Greek, what would you rather get back — $32 or perhaps $100?

"Of course you'll take the $100," said Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder, well-known Las Vegas odds-maker. "That's why New York's off-track betting is bound to succeed. It will be a real knockdown blow to organized gambling."

The suave Nevada price maker, whose line on athletic contests and political races has become a national institution, came to New York Tuesday at glad Whitey Ford retired. He finessed me half crazy."

Fast-batters like Sam McDowell don't worry him as much. "Sudden Sam throws three speeds—hard, harder and hardest. You know anything from that lad's hand ain't gonna be soft stuff."

Boog smiles when he brags about wearing out Denny McLain when the controversial righthander won 31 games in 1968, but quickly adds, "you don't own any pitcher. You just learn them over the years and what to expect in certain situations. It's nothing you can put your finger on."

If there is any improvement in Powell since the mid 1960s, it's consistency. "I'm fooled less and have patience against people like Kaat. I always swing firmly, but I'm not always trying to hit a home run."

Powell said he got his hitting philosophy from former infielder Woodie Held who said, "Swing hard in case you hit it."

Kickers Get Recognition in Pro Play

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Dempsey's kicking shoe cost $200, George Blanda's a mere $40. The difference between the men who wear them is far greater.

But Dempsey, New Orleans' record-shattering place-kicker, and Blanda, Oakland's game-breaking back-up quarterback, had one thing in common last weekend ... the magic touch.

The 22-year-old Saint boiler and the 43-year-old Raider back-up quarterback were cited today by The Associated Press as co-winners of the National Football League Offensive Player of the Week award.

Dempsey, who beat Detroit 19-17 with a 63-yard field goal — longest placement in football history — on the final play of Sunday's game, broke the NFL record wearing a specially-designed shoe. The second-year pro was born with half a right foot and no right hand.

He has never considered himself handicapped.

"Other kickers lock their ankles, and if they don't do it just right they miss," he said. "I don't have much to lock. The ball takes off faster and higher because of that."

That's how it went at New Orleans. Dempsey lofting a high, hard kick just over the post as the gun went off to snatch victory from the jaws of the Lions. Dempsey's fourth field goal in the game broke Bert Rechichar's 15-year-old pro distance mark by seven yards.

"We were beaten by a miracle ... what else can you say,"

Detroit Coach Joe Schmidt marveled.

Blanda, who has played more games and scored more points than anyone in pro history, climaxed three weeks of miracle-making by coming off the Oakland bench to fire the tying touchdown pass and then booming a 52-yard field goal with three seconds to play for a 23-20 victory over Cleveland.

The previous Sunday, football's elder statesman, who wears a conventional kicking shoe, booted a 48-yarder to tie Kansas City 17-17 with three seconds remaining. A week earlier, he took over for injury-prone Daryle Lamonica and tossed three scoring passes in a victory over Pittsburgh.

FOOTBALL FORECAST

MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLES
Fearless Forecaster

Egad, friends, the schedule this week is loaded with top flight attractions so we had best get right to the selections.

The Ohio State Buckeyes (7-0) and the Michigan Wolverines (8-0) running full tilt on a collision course will tune up for their showdown engagement slated for Nov. 21, by whipping Purdue and Illinois respectively. The talented Buckeyes, who have been winning despite some —kaff-kaff—spotty performances, will vanquish the Boilermakers, 28-12, on the latter's home grounds.

The Michigan lads will have a little easier going as they trounce undermanned Iowa by a 47-0 count. And then it's on to Columbus to settle the Big Ten race and the Rose Bowl representative. But more of that next week!

Another very interesting battle in the Midwest pits invading Georgia Tech (6-2) against undefeated (7-0) Notre Dame. The Irish, whose sterling week-after-week performances entitle them to their No. 1 rating in the country, will maintain their 40-plus points-per-game average as they demolish the "Ramblin' Wreck, 44-15—um-kumph!

Texas with 27 straight wins and Toledo boasting 20 in a row should add to their strings. The Hooples System sees Texas winning another close Southwest Conference clash, 27-17, over TCU.

Toledo's Rockets have too many bombs for the Dayton Flyers and should triumph rather easily, 30-11.

Last week we gave you Oregon to bounce the Air Force Falcons from the ranks of the unbeaten—and true to our prediction the Ducks shot down the Air Force eleven in a rousing fight, 46-35—har-rumph! This week it will be the Falcons' turn to play giant killer as they bounce back against Rose Bowl-bound Stanford. Yes, dear readers, The Air Force will nip Jim Plunkett and his Stanford Indians, 28-25!

Incidentally, that—a-hem—sensational Oregon victory gave your correspondent a perfect slate in picking the winners in last Saturday's contests featuring the Top Ten rated teams!

And now, kiddies, a word to the wise—after next Saturday there will be only 33 shopping days left till Christmas.

The Stumbling Hawks Have Found Formula

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The stumbling Atlanta Hawks have found the winning formula, at least temporarily. Just listen to the coach.

The Hawks, who captured only their third victory in 11 National Basketball Association starts, whipped the Philadelphia 76ers 109-104 Tuesday night behind the hot-shooting Lou Hudson.

Trailing 100-96 with a little over three minutes remaining to play, Atlanta's coach, Richie Guerin called a time out and apparently told the Hawks to feed Hudson, who had been virtually ignored earlier in the quarter.

After the time out, Hudson quickly responded with seven points as the Hawks blitzed Philadelphia 13-4 for the victory. Hudson finished with 32 points while Hal Greer topped the 76ers with 25.

In other NBA action, Chicago routed Los Angeles 118-96, San Francisco sent Cleveland to its 15th consecutive loss 109-74, Seattle edged New York 93-91 and Cincinnati blasted Portland 138-121.

In American Basketball Association play, Denver topped the Floridians 119-116, Pittsburgh whipped Memphis 112-106 and Utah bombed Texas 146-127.

Jerry Sloan and Bob Love combined for 22 third quarter points to help the Bulls pull away from Los Angeles. Sloan finished with 32 points while Love connected for 25. Jerry West and Gail Goodrich had 22 apiece for the Lakers.

Cleveland's hapless expansion club tied the NBA record, set in 1949 by Denver, in dropping their 15th consecutive game at the beginning of a season. The Cavaliers are two games shy of tying the mark for most successive losses in a row of 17 set by San Francisco in 1964 and San Diego in 1968.

The Warriors led all the way with Fritz Williams leading the winning attack with 22 points.

Dick Snyder's jumper with 17 seconds remaining gave Seattle its squeaker over the Knicks.

The New Yorkers called time out but with 10 seconds remaining Willis Reed was charged with an offensive foul and Seattle took over and ran out the

SWC Players of Week Selected

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Doug McCutchen can appreciate being The Associated Press' offensive player of the week because the hard-running Texas Tech Red Raider was a fourth teamer as recently as spring training.

He ripped off 204 yards against Texas Christian and the week before got 147 through the Rice Owls.

"On the first day I was on the third team," McCutchen recalls about spring practice when new coach Jim Carlen took over. "I didn't see how things could get much worse."

"On the second day I found out how bad things could get because the coaches put me on the fourth team."

McCutchen, a sophomore from Bronte (Pop. 999), battled his way back to the second team. And on his first two carries he gained 40 yards and then scored a touchdown.

Under Carlen's system, he goes with the back that's having the "hot" hand. It's either Miles Langehenig, Larry Hargrave, Danny Hardaway or McCutchen.

Right now Mr. Heat is McCutchen. He's the No. 1 ball carrier for Tech with 837 yards on 184 carries. He broke 27 tackles, for example, in the 22-14 victory over TCU by Tech.

Other offensive players receiving mention were Arkansas quarterback Bill Montgomery and SMU tailback Gary Hammond.

Baylor's David Jones, a senior linebacker, is The AP's defensive player of the week for his inspired play in Baylor's 21-14 loss to Texas.

He admits he tries to emulate Chicago Bear all-pro linebacker

Dick Butkus.

He has a pinup photo of Butkus hanging in his room. "I believe in the way Butkus psyches himself up for a game," said Jones. "You know how it works. He's the most feared man in pro football. I just like him."

Jones had 17 tackles against Texas—10 unassisted. He deflected a pass and blocked a punt that resulted in a Baylor touchdown.

Jones—like Butkus—starts getting ready for a game Monday.

"I like to get alone and think about the man who'll be in front of me," Jones said. "You've got to whip the guy in front of you before you can do anything else."

I usually start on Monday by looking at films and by Wednesday, I'm pretty psyched up."

Baylor coach Bill Beall says "David doesn't have a shut off valve ..."

Jones said the close loss to Texas "Helped us in feeling like we can stay with anyone. It gave us a lot of confidence. I think it really started something. If we can win our next three games, I think our program will be well on its way to being what we want it to be."

Others receiving defensive nominations included Baylor end Roger Goreer, Baylor's Ray Penn, and Texas defensive backs Danny Lester and Alan Lowry.

Floridians Get Measure of Revenge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Larry Cannon and Don Sidle, a pair of ex-Floridians got a measure of revenge against former teammates and a well-needed victory for the slow-starting Denver Rockets.

The Rockets won 119-116 but had a 112-95 lead with 4:27 left in the American Basketball Association game in Miami Beach Tuesday night with Sidle pumping in 29 points and Julius Keye pouring in 33 before the Floridians put on a late drive.

With 13 seconds left, the Floridians got to within one point at 117-116 when Cannon got into the act.

The former LaSalle College ace was fouled with three seconds remaining and converted two free throws to ice the victory. He also hit with a pair of foul shots with 33 seconds left and finished with 19 points. The Rockets are now 3-10.

In the only other ABA action, Pittsburgh toppled Memphis 112-108 and Utah bombed Texas 146-127.

In the National Basketball Association, Atlanta trimmed Philadelphia 109-104, Chicago routed Los Angeles 118-96, Seattle nipped New York 93-91, San Francisco ripped Cleveland 109-74 and Cincinnati rolled over Portland 138-121.

Mike Lewis tossed in 22 points in Pittsburgh's victory. The Condors never trailed and led by 20 points before Memphis, behind Steve Jones' 28 points cut into the margin at the end.

Willie Wise poured in 47 points in Utah's rout, the 146 points establishing a Stars' club record. Zelmo Beaty and Austin Robinson added 22 points apiece for the winners. Bob Bedell had 27 for Texas. The Stars previous scoring mark was 143 points in 1969.

Russians in Lead in Gymnastics

WINNIPEG (AP) — Men and women from the Soviet Union left little doubt after the first day of the six-nation World Invitational Gymnastics Tournament Tuesday that they intend to regain some of the prestige lost during last month's World Championships.

After completion of preliminaries, the Russians were leading in four of five events, with Japan holding a narrow margin in the fifth, the men's floor exercise.

The championships, in Ljubljana, Yugoslavia, were dominated by the East Germans and the Japanese, who dashed Russian hopes of becoming the world's top gymnasts.

Canada, the United States, France and Yugoslavia make up the other countries represented here.

Finds Playing Boston Bruins Is Not Easy

BOSTON (AP)—Playing the Boston Bruins is like fighting Cassius Clay, coach Hal Laycoe of the Vancouver Canucks said Tuesday night after his team absorbed a 6-3 National Hockey League trouncing by the Stanley Cup champions.

"Imagine what would happen if you were fighting Clay and you put one hand behind your back," Laycoe said. "He'd knock you flat. And when you take a penalty against Boston they do the same thing to you."

The Bruins scored their first goal without any manpower advantage as the puck slid out to Ed Westfall after a scramble in front of the net and he drove in a 15-footer. A few minutes later John Bucyk took just eight seconds to capitalize on Boston's first power play opportunity, and a couple of minutes after that another Vancouver penalty led to a goal by John McKenzie.

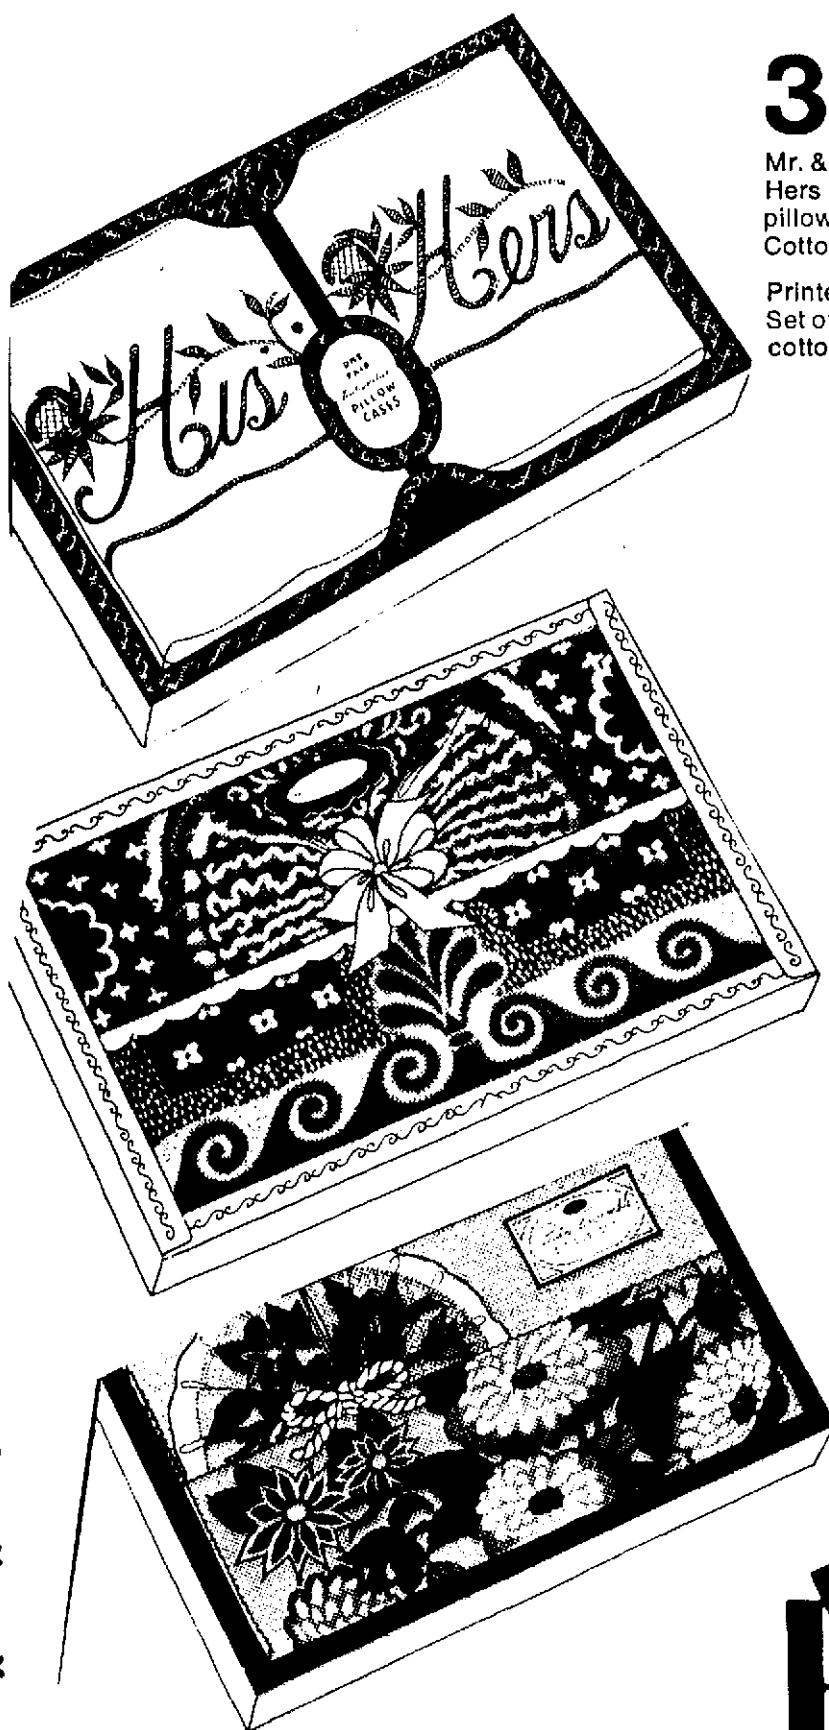

Bobby Orr scored on one of his patented rushes in the second period and league-leading scorer Phil Esposito added his ninth goal to make it 5-0 before the Canucks closed the gap with goals by Danny Johnson, Wayne Maki and Andre Boudrias in the final period. Dallas Smith then added one for Boston.

The victory hiked Boston's lead over idle New York and Montreal to three full points in the NHL's East Division, while in the only other game Tuesday night Los Angeles downed the Pittsburgh Penguins 5-1 to strengthen its grip on fourth place in the west.

Goals by Gilles Marotte and Bob Pulford boosted the Kings to a 2-0 lead in the first period and they breezed from there. Ed Joyal Mike Byers and Pulford again completed the Los Angeles scoring.

Team Loses But Lineman Is Winner

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ready or not, here comes Bob Crawford, who's always ready. The University of the Pacific linebacker was ready and waiting for unbeaten, nationally ranked San Diego State last Saturday and almost pulled off the upset of the year—single-handedly.

The 5-foot-10, 204-pound senior from Oxnard, Calif., made 24 tackles, 11 of them unassisted, as the unheralded Tigers dropped a heart-breaking 14-13 decision. That performance earned Crawford National College Lineman of the Week honors from The Associated Press.

And a heart-breaking defeat it was. Not only did Pacific hang right in there with the mighty Aztecs after losing their star quarterback early in the game, but just before San Diego's winning touchdown Crawford intercepted a pass in the end zone only to see the theft wiped out by a penalty.

"Without Crawford we would have lost badly. He's the best linebacker I've been around in my coaching career," says Homer Smith, the Tigers' head coach. "He's smart, quick, tough, dedicated, all the usual adjectives. He's a great leader, too, and our defensive captain."

"He always wants to hit and he bores right in for the center of gravity. And he's always perfectly ready for game competition. With Bob, there's no funny stuff at all the 48 hours before a game."

"He's even led us in pregame and postgame prayers several times and they've been things of beauty. I wish I had taped them."

Crawford probably is too small for pro ball, but Smith is trying hard to get him in some postseason all-star games. A physical education major—he was wrestling captain at Camarillo, Calif., High School and honorable mention junior college All-America at Ventura J.C.—Crawford is planning a coaching career.

"It's a shame he's too small for the pros," says Smith, "but he's just right for college."

Lightweight Is Pro Back of the Week

CINCINNATI (AP) — Lemar Parrish, small by pro-football standards, grinned and shrugged Tuesday when told he had been selected Defensive Back of the Week by The Associated Press.

"It was a great day for me," said the 5-foot-11, 185-pound rookie from Lincoln College, Mo.

"I hope I have another one next week," he said, rushing out to practice with the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League.

"He's a shy boy," said Paul Brown, coach and general manager, "except for football."

Parrish was selected for his performance Sunday in which the Bengals beat the Buffalo Bills 41-14, their first victory away from home since 1968 and their second of the year.

Parrish ran back a kickoff 95 yards, picked up a blocked field goal attempt and sped in for a second touchdown, 83 yards. He also intercepted a Buffalo pass and ran it back 19 yards and returned another kickoff 49 yards.

The Arkansas Children's Colony Band and Colonettes will give a performance Tuesday, November 17 at 7:00 p.m. at the Nashville Elementary Auditorium.

The Band is composed of thirty-four residents of the Conway Unit, and will present patriotic, secular, and religious selections under the direction of Mr. Don Pool. Mr. Pool developed the instrumental program at the Colony, possibly the first of its kind, in June, 1966.

The Colonettes is a 10-member singing group, most of whom also play in the Band. Besides

Plunkett Gets the Back of Week Award

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — The Heisman Trophy is the only thing Stanford quarterback Jim Plunkett hasn't won this year.

He's helped his Indians win a Rose Bowl berth, he's already set national college career marks for passing and total offense and this week he was selected as The Associated Press national back of the week.

The 6-foot-3 quarterback won the weekly honor by passing for four touchdowns and twice pulling Stanford from behind for a 29-22 victory over Washington Saturday. He also passed for a two-point conversion.

The result clinched the Pacific-8 championship for Stanford and sends the Indians into the Rose Bowl against the Big Ten's best, probably Ohio State.

Plunkett, Coach John Ralston and the team all took it rather calmly. There was no dressing room hilarity.

Plunkett said, "We first felt we could go to the Rose Bowl the day we reported for practice — Aug. 22."

Coach Tommy Prothro, whose UCLA team lost to Stanford 9-7 but held Plunkett without a touchdown for the only time this year, said he thought Plunkett had "his best passing game of the year" against Washington.

Prothro, who watched the game on television, added that Stanford "can beat anybody on a given day."

San Jose State coach Dewey King, also a television viewer, said, "I don't see how they can deny Plunkett the Heisman now."

Coach Ralston said, "He completed 22 passes in 36 attempts for 268 yards and four touchdowns."

"Twice he led us from behind when it appeared we were in trouble. What more can I say about him?"

Ralston added, "We've got a couple of other games before we go to Pasadena and we still have two objectives left: We want to finish as high in the national rankings as we can and we want to do something about getting that Heisman Trophy for Jim."

Pressed as to whether his 23-year-old thrower had any faults, Ralston said, "Sometimes he'll come off the field after an interception almost in a state of shock."

"I've told him when you put the ball in the air you're bound to have an interception once in awhile."

He had two against Washington, but no damage was done. Plunkett said he thought the Rose Bowl was more important, explaining, "You can set out to go to a bowl but you can't set out to win the trophy."

Mystery Hangs Over Grand Jury Subpoenas

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

A shroud of mystery hangs today over a wave of Federal Grand Jury subpoenas which have been served on more than half of the National Football League's 26 teams.

NFL officials in New York say they have not been informed of any pending federal legal action. But at least 15 NFL clubs were served with summonses by a Federal Grand Jury in Cleveland to appear before the Grand Jury to appear with their records beginning Nov. 17. And at least nine other clubs said they had not been subpoenaed as of today.

Carl Steinhouse, head of the Justice Department's anti-trust division in Cleveland, refused to comment on the matter and referred all inquiries to Justice Department headquarters in Washington.

A spokesman for the department in the nation's capital said:

"We know of no case in the works. However, it could be an individual Grand Jury action. You would have to check the various Grand Juries."

There were reports that the federal action involved possible anti-trust violations by the NFL, and that the investigation might have been touched off by complaints by Walter Beach, a former defensive back with the Cleveland Browns.

But Beach, reached late Tuesday night in New Haven, Conn. where he is a law student at Yale University, denied any involvement.

Summoned to appear before the Grand Jury were the Denver Broncos, New Orleans Saints, San Francisco 49ers, Detroit Lions, Dallas Cowboys, Cleveland Browns, Minnesota Vikings, Chicago Bears, Baltimore Colts, Pittsburgh Steelers, Cincinnati Bengals, Buffalo Bills, St. Louis Cardinals, Atlanta Falcons and Los Angeles Rams.

At least nine clubs—the New York Giants and New York Jets, Philadelphia Eagles, Oakland Raiders, San Diego Chargers, Miami Dolphins, Kansas City Chiefs, Green Bay Packers and Houston Oilers—said no subpoenas had been delivered to them.

There was no word on whether the Boston Patriots or Washington Redskins had been served.

Some of the clubs had specific individuals subpoenaed and others did not. Separate papers were served in Cleveland to Art Modell, president and treasurer of the Browns, Harold Sauerbrei, general manager of the team, head coach Blanton Collier, defensive coach Howard Brinker and offensive coach Nick Skorich. They were asked to appear Nov. 17.

Jim Finks, general manager of the Vikings, said a U.S. marshal delivered a subpoena instructing the Minnesota club to be represented before the Federal Grand Jury Dec. 7. Finks said he had been ordered to bring "various documents along the lines of contracts, waivers and options."

"I have no idea what it's for," said Finks. "We have been in contact with our league counsel and they are as much in the dark as we are."

Asked if other Viking officials had been ordered to appear before the Grand Jury, Finks said: "As far as I know, I'm it."

Subpoenas served to the Buffalo, Dallas, Baltimore and San Francisco clubs did not specify which club officials should appear.

The clubs which were not subpoenaed Tuesday seemed every bit as puzzled by the action as the teams that received the summonses.

Griffin in Ten Round Decision

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Five-time world champion Emile Griffith, his sights set on a match with new middleweight title holder Carlos Monzon, scored a lop-sided 10-round decision over Nate Collins Tuesday night at the Cow Palace.

The 32-year-old Virgin Islands born New Yorker, 158, scored his seventh consecutive victory this year and in the process snapped a seven-fight win streak for Collins, 159, of San Francisco.

Griffith, who has held the welter title three times and the middleweight title twice, was never in trouble. He outboxed the reputedly harder-hitting Collins all the way, winning the votes of all three judges, 8-1, 7-3, 6-3.

There were no knockdowns, although in the ninth round, after Collins opened up for the first time, realizing he was far behind, Griffith scored with two hard right uppercuts to the body which almost doubled up the loser.

International Is Truly a World Affair

By ED SCHUYLER, JR.
LAUREL, Md. (AP) — The Washington D.C. International is a horse race of the world, and today's running underscores that fact.

Eight countries were represented by 10 horses entered in the 19th running of the $150,000 race over 1 1/2 miles on the grass at Laurel.

Bacuco of Italy is owned by American Wayne Murly and his jockey was Carlos Astorga of Chile.

Senador of Venezuela was bred in Ireland.

Sol de Noche of Uruguay is owned and trained by Mark T. Cox III of the United States and had American Bill Passmore as his rider.

Paul Melon's Fort Marcy, who represented the United States along with Howard B. Keck's Fiddle Isle, had a Latin touch in his bid for another International win to go with his 1967 victory. His jockey, Jorge Velasquez, is from Panama.

Ownership or where a horse is bred does not determine what country a horse will represent in the International. This is determined by where a horse is trained.

The field also included Miss Dan II and Beaugency of France, Lorenzaccio of England, Cortez of West Germany and Fanfreluche of Canada.

The stew of jockeys, trainers, owners, countries represented and countries where bred was not unique to this International.

In the first 18 runnings of the International, U.S. representatives won eight times with Cain Hoy Stable's Bald Eagle accounting for two of those victories, in 1959-60.

France had won the race five times, including two straight with Diatome in 1965 and Behistoun in 1966. England had won twice, with Wilwyn in the first International in 1952 and Karabas in 1969. Ireland, Australia and Venezuela each had won once.

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — Ben Williams, 66, of Little Rock drowned Tuesday in a Prairie County irrigation reservoir about five miles northwest of Stuttgart.

Student Suit Expected to Go to Jury

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The trial on a $29,935 damage suit filed by a former student who contends his civil rights were violated when he was suspended from Arkansas State University Jan. 26, 1967, was expected to go to the jury today in U.S. District Court here.

William Earl Stewart, the former student who is now an English teacher at Kennett, Mo., testified in his own behalf Tuesday.

Stewart was one of several students suspended by the ASU Disciplinary Committee for "conduct unbecoming a student" as a result of being present at a party in an off-campus apartment where policemen said they found marijuana.

Joe R. Hamil, the student in whose apartment the party was held, pleaded guilty in Craighead Circuit Court to possession of marijuana and was sentenced to three years in prison, but no formal charges were made against the other students.

Stewart said at the time he was suspended he was attending ASU on a scholarship and National Defense Loan, working parttime, had a "B" average and was one hour short of being a senior.

Stewart said that on the night of the party he went to a dance at the ASU student center with a girl and that while there he was told of the party at Hamil's apartment by a friend. He said the friend told him he would be welcome at the party.

Stewart said he had met Hamil two days earlier at the coffee shop in the student center but that he knew nothing of Hamil, had never been to a party at Hamil's apartment before and was not invited that night by Hamil.

He testified that he, the girl and the friend drove from the student center to Hamil's apartment and that when they arrived they found 12 to 15 students and teachers there. Stewart said some of those in the apartment were playing a card game on the living room floor and that others were listening to a stereo.

Some of the people at the party were drinking and there were beer and whisky bottles in evidence, Stewart said. He said, however, there was no disturbance during the one hour and 15 minutes he was at the apartment. He said he knew nothing of any marijuana.

Stewart said that after he had been there for an hour and 15 minutes, there was a knock on the door and the police, Dean of Students Robert Moore and the late Dean N. D. Hazelbaker were admitted.

The police searched the apartment and one of them, according to Stewart, came out of a room with a container saying he "Had what we wanted."

Stewart said he was taken to police headquarters at Jonesboro, questioned and released. He said the next day he was told by the girl who had accompanied him to the apartment that he was expected at disciplinary committee proceedings that afternoon.

He said he did not learn why he was appearing before the committee until attending the proceedings.

Stewart said no specific charge was made against him and that no specific mention of drugs was made at the hearing. He said he was told by Hazelbaker that he was being indefinitely suspended and that he would have the right to apply for readmission at a later date.

Dr. James Griner, professor of history at ASU and a member of the Disciplinary Committee at the time of Stewart's suspension.

"To me, the marijuana was the heart of the matter," Griner said. "I got it from the two deans (Moore and Hazelbaker) that marijuana had been present at the party."

State Police Sgt. Buren Jackson, who participated in the raid, said the room was very smoke-filled and people were sitting on the floor.

He said he searched the apartment and said he found what was later identified as marijuana. The officer said he recalled seeing Stewart "glassy-eyed and sort of in a trance."

Moore took the stand and testified that after Stewart had been suspended he received a telephone call from Stewart.

OBITUARY
Caulbert Ray Livingston, 3126 Kensington, adviser for the department of continuing education in the Kansas City school district, died Thursday at St. Joseph hospital. He was graduated from the University of Kansas and received his master's degree at the Boston Conservatory of Music. He was a member of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity and the Symphonia music fraternity.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Louise Graham Livingston (formerly of Hope); a daughter, Miss Paula Livingston, and two sisters, Mrs. Vantilla Shellner and Mrs. Alvaloise Simms, both of Kansas City. Services were held at the Paseo Baptist church, burial in Lincoln Cemetery, under the direction of Watkins Funeral Home.

He accompanied him to the apartment that he was expected at disciplinary committee proceedings that afternoon.

He said he did not learn why he was appearing before the committee until attending the proceedings.

Stewart said no specific charge was made against him and that no specific mention of drugs was made at the hearing. He said he was told by Hazelbaker that he was being indefinitely suspended and that he would have the right to apply for readmission at a later date.

Dr. James Griner, professor of history at ASU and a member of the Disciplinary Committee at the time of Stewart's suspension.

"To me, the marijuana was the heart of the matter," Griner said. "I got it from the two deans (Moore and Hazelbaker) that marijuana had been present at the party."

State Police Sgt. Buren Jackson, who participated in the raid, said the room was very smoke-filled and people were sitting on the floor.

He said he searched the apartment and said he found what was later identified as marijuana. The officer said he recalled seeing Stewart "glassy-eyed and sort of in a trance."

Moore took the stand and testified that after Stewart had been suspended he received a telephone call from Stewart.

Underground Press Spreads Over America

By O'RYAN RICKARD
associated Press Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A researcher says the nation's underground press, written "by the alienated for the alienated," has achieved a circulation approaching five million.

Robert J. Glessing, professor of journalism at Canada College, Redwood City, Calif., reports in a book, "The Underground Press in America," that there are more than 450 such publications.

He says underground circles estimate the readership at up to 30 million.

In his book, published by Indiana University Press, Glessing attributes the proliferation of such newspapers to a youth revolt against war, racial injustice, politics and a loss of individuality, coupled with advances in printing technology which make the publications cheap to produce.

Who reads them?

The author quotes one underground press worker in California as saying his readers are "fresh-smelling hippies and dewy-eyed runaways, pot smokers and pill poppers, university students and regents, Socialists, Communists, anarchists and Yippies, Hell's Angels, police chiefs, city councilmen, the Pentagon and the Bank of America."

Some of the papers are not so underground any longer, Glessing points out.

For example, the profit-making Village Voice in New York City has a certified circulation of 130,000.

"The underground press in America is one of the results of the prevailing conditions in America," Glessing says.

Establishment newspapers cover such events as weddings, deaths, sporting events and the stock market, but the underground concentrates on "radical politics and psychedelic drugs and religious prophecy," says Glessing.

Russia Makes Another Moon Shot

MOSCOW (AP) — Another unmanned Soviet rocket, Luna 17, was on its way to the moon today and expected to arrive Saturday or Sunday. Soviet scientists apparently plan for it to scoop up some of the lunar surface and return to earth with it, as Luna 16 did nearly two months ago.

Luna 17 will test new equipment and "carry on further scientific exploration of the moon and near-moon space," Tass said. "According to telemetered data, the on-board systems and units of the station are functioning normally."

The Soviet news agency said the moonship was launched Tuesday afternoon and set out for the moon from an earth orbit. Its destination on the lunar surface was not announced. Luna 16 brought back 3½ ounces of soil from the Sea of Fertility in September, Russia's first successful attempt at collecting moon samples.

At 1 a.m. EST today Luna 17 was 86,000 miles from earth, Tass said.

After the success of the U.S. manned lunar landings in 1969, the Soviet space program got a considerable boost in prestige from Luna 16, the first robot craft to bring material back from the moon. Although its payload was minute compared with the 132 pounds of rocks and soil collected by the astronauts of Apollo 11 and 12, Soviet scientists claim such unmanned exploration is cheaper and safer than manned flights. Many Western scientists agree.

Experience gathered from the Luna series will be used for round-trip attempts at Mars and Venus "probably within this decade," Soviet scientists have said.

Temperatures Expected to Be Same

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A cold front is expected to move through Arkansas before Thursday morning, but temperatures are only expected to drop a few degrees.

The National Weather Service says the air behind the front is not of Canadian origin, but is air from the west.

The front is also expected to produce increased cloudiness in the state and some high clouds were moving into the western portion of the state this morning. Precipitation will be limited to a few showers in the northeast portion.

Temperatures are expected to climb slightly in the south portion of the state today, reaching into the low 70s. High Thursday should be mostly in the 60s.

Overnight lows included 33 at Fayetteville, 37 at Harrison, 37 at Jonesboro, 39 at Pine Bluff, 40 at Texarkana, 37 at El Dorado, 35 at Memphis, 36 at Little Rock and 37 at Fort Smith.

No rainfall was reported in the state during the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m.

Bumpers Takes Over State Senate Office

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers will work out of a state Senate office at the Capitol while preparing to assume his duties as governor in January.

The Senate Efficiency Committee made available to Bumpers and his staff the Senate office of Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt and an office that Sens. Fred Saffor of Marked Tree and Clinton Wade of Fayetteville share. Archie Shaffer III, Bumpers' nephew and appointments secretary, said Tuesday Bumpers' staff would begin moving into the office today.

Bumpers currently is on vacation out of the state. He is scheduled to return Monday.

Shaffer said Bumpers and Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller probably would begin discussing the change in administrations sometime next week.

World Leaders to Pay Tribute to de Gaulle

Cambodia, Laos Bomb Targets

By JOHN VINOCUR

Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — France turned Armistice Day into a day of mourning for Charles de Gaulle today while preparations went ahead for his simple country funeral and the memorial service in Paris that will bring leaders of some 80 nations to Notre Dame Cathedral Thursday.

President Nixon and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin headed the host of presidents, premiers and monarchs bound for the French capital to pay funeral tribute to the general whose unshakable faith in France and stubborn will twice rescued his nation from humiliation.

Informed sources said Nixon, after the memorial service Thursday morning at Notre Dame, would go to De Gaulle's home at Colombey les Deux Eglises to represent the American people at the funeral in the afternoon. Although De Gaulle's instructions for his funeral requested that it be stripped of pomp and official ceremony, he wrote: "The men and women of France and of other countries of the world may, if they wish, do my memory the honor of accompanying my body to its last resting place."

Dressed in the uniform of a two-star general and with a rosary given him by Pope Paul VI in his hands, the body of De Gaulle lay today in a closed wooden coffin in the center of a large room on the ground floor of his tightly guarded home in Colombey, in eastern France. It was there he died Monday night of a heart attack.

The tricolor flag of France covered the coffin, a single candle burned in the room, and De Gaulle's widow, Yvonne, stood beside the casket, dressed in black, a handkerchief in her left hand. She fought tears as she acknowledged tributes from old friends and veterans of her husband's wartime struggle to free France.

In the churchyard not far away a workman's chisel added "1970" to the marble tombstone that already read "Charles de Gaulle 1890-"

In Paris, thousands lined the Champs Elysees to watch President Georges Pompidou ride to the traditional Armistice Day service at the Arc de Triomphe. The mood, under the gray skies typical of a French November, was solemn.

Stores and public buildings are always closed in France on Armistice Day. President Pompidou's office said today that the town of Treouing with no resistance and later withdrew, leaving it undefended.

A Cambodian spokesman said government troops re-entered the town of Treouing with no resistance and later withdrew, leaving it undefended.

There Are Many Things in Your Life That Makes It Worth Living

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living: Pay day Fridays.

Sunrises, sunsets and rainbows.

Being asked by the girl you want to marry if you'd please rub the back of her neck.

Overhearing your kindergarten teacher say that you can gallop to piano music better than any other boy in the class.

Getting back from a pay telephone three times the amount you put in.

Becoming a teen-ager.

Outgrowing the teens—at long last.

The animal delight—and later human conscience pangs—over bagging a rabbit on your first hunt.

The lifetime-lasting wistfulness of an adolescent love affair with an older woman who is hardly aware that you are alive.

Landing a summer job as a drugstore soda squirt, which means you can eat ice cream by the gallon—as long as the boss doesn't catch you.

Tasting caviar for the first time and deciding that, no matter how highly others might prize it, beef stew was better for your own immortal soul.

Dancing with a girl, and feeling pleased because she had her eyes closed and her breath felt warm against your cheek.

The sight of an old-time schooner, fully rigged, setting out to sea.

Holding a beach shell to your ear and listening to the far away lapping waters of all the oceans on earth.

Standing empty-pocketed at the entrance of a circus, then being unexpectedly given a ticket by a passing benefactor.

The feel of corduroy, the fragrance of a wintry hearth fire, the farland vision of trees lacy with ice, the flavor of hot bean soup upon coming in from the cold.

Realizing, after your own children start arriving, how much your own parents sacrificed for you in their time.

Converting an old enemy into a new friend.

Opening a Chinese fortune cookie and finding a message which reads: "You should be content that you are loved."

Of these, and other things, is earth sometimes made like unto heaven.

Trial Delays Hit by State Police Head

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Police Director Ralph Scott said Tuesday that unjustified postponement of court cases has undermined the American system of criminal justice.

In a speech to the Little Rock Kiwanis club, Scott said unjustified postponement is "a commonly used legal trick and it makes me sick."

Scott said the constitutional guarantee of a speedy trial "is a farce and this great statement of principle has been perverted to accomplish exactly the opposite."

"Only the innocent want a speedy trial," Scott said. "The last thing a guilty subject wants is a speedy trial and if he has the money to hire a good lawyer, he can sometimes postpone final adjudication in the courts for years."

He said that through the years, "lawyers and the courts have built such a procedural hedge around the truth that final adjudication may take years."

Scott said that in several lower courts in Arkansas, persons escape final adjudication through the simple expedient

Aide Says Nixon Has Flatly Declared War Will End by 1972

By WALTER R. MEARS

AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A top White House aide says President Nixon has declared flatly that the Vietnam war will be ended by 1972.

The statement is in a memorandum by presidential Counselor Robert H. Finch, in which he summed up Nixon's post-election comments last week to a meeting of Cabinet and ranking staff members.

In reporting an optimistic Nixon outlook for the next elections two years hence, Finch's notes contained the passage that "... the war which is being wound down will have been ended."

Finch sent copies of the memo to newsmen Tuesday.

His account of the President's analysis included:

"In 1970, the high hopes of the national Democrats hinged on a single issue—the dislocations of an economy moving from inflation to stability, from war to peace."

"By 1972, that issue will be gone. As a result of doing what was right, 1971 will be a good year economically and 1972 will be a boom year."

"By 1972, the inflation that is being cut back will have been controlled; the war which is being wound down will have been ended."

"The Republican party will run on the peace and prosperity issues—which no Democratic administration has been able to do since the start of World War II."

"In 1972, we will have in office a President who did something about the crime crisis the opposition ignored for a decade; we will have a President who checked the inflation the opposition could not control; we will have a President who ended a war the opposition could not end."

The flat statement that the Vietnam war will be ended before the next election ran counter to the account given Monday by Ronald L. Ziegler, the White House press secretary. He denied that the President had said

Discount Rate Slashed by Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board has chipped away a fraction from its discount rate in a decision carrying more psychological impact than direct pressure on easing interest rates.

In cutting the rate Federal Reserve Banks charge their member banks for money from 6 per cent to 5½ per cent, the board Tuesday carefully characterized its action as only a technical move.

It said, in effect, that interest rates on the market have come down already—and it was acting only to bring the discount rate into line.

Nevertheless, it was the first reduction in the rate in more than two years and appeared to signal a slight decline in the current 7½ per cent prime interest rate, the amount banks charge their biggest loan customers.

If that happens, it would mean a slight lowering of interest rates generally.

A spokesman for President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers said the decision is a bigger help psychologically than anything else.

He said the reduction "totally reflects the generally favorable trend of the credit situation It is a further easing of the credit strain."

The board said the cut was "made within the framework of the moderately expansive monetary policy that was initiated earlier this year."

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, said the reduction was a step in the right direction but noted one-quarter of one per cent was small.

Juvenile Board Asks Power to Subpoena

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Juvenile Training School Board voted Tuesday to ask the General Assembly to give the Juvenile Training School Department subpoena powers so that recalcitrant parents could be brought in to talk about a committed child's problems.

Paul Shipley, director of the department, said diagnostic center employees had complained that they often were unable to persuade parents to meet with them to discuss a child's problems and to plan a program for the child's rehabilitation.

State Rep. W. W. Beaumont of Little Rock told the board he would have legislation drawn giving the department the authority to subpoena parents who do not cooperate.

West Memphis Plant Revealed

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — Officials of Canner of Eastern Arkansas Inc. announced plans Tuesday to build a $1.7 million plant in West Memphis to supply soft drinks to distributors in Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee.

The company said a general construction contract had been awarded to James H. Taylor & Sons Construction Co. of Crawfordsville. The plant, which will employ about 55 persons, is expected to be in operation in six months.

UAW, General Motors Tentatively Agree on New Labor Contract

$20 Million Asked for Riot Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird plans to ask the Senate next week for $20 million to provide National Guardsmen and the Reserves with more riot-control training and protective equipment.

One of the reasons Pentagon officials gave for the added preparedness was to reduce the risk of injury to guardsmen in the event of civil disturbances. But officials also said the action aims at minimizing the much-criticized use of firearms by guardsmen on riot-control duty.

"If they (the guardsmen) are trained and protected, they will be less likely to react in certain extreme ways out of fear," Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim replied Tuesday when asked whether the action was in direct response to the Kent State University shootings last May.

Four students were shot fatally in the clash with Ohio guardsmen on the Kent State campus.

The money to pay for the extra training and new equipment will be sought as an addition to the military appropriations bill already passed by the House.

The Pentagon wants to supply the guard with face masks, batons and protective vests as well as greater quantities of riot-control devices such as shotguns, floodlights, tear gas, radios, public address systems and anti-sniper rifles.

The money will also help pay for eight more hours of training for enlisted men and 16 hours of leadership training for lower ranking officers and sergeants.

Insurance Firm Asks Rate Hike

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The MFA Mutual Insurance Co. presented its case Tuesday to the state Insurance Commission for an average increase in automobile insurance rates of five per cent.

In the proposed increase, the company is asking for a 6.8 per cent jump in liability insurance, a 12.5 per cent rise in uninsured motorist coverage, a 1.4 per cent rise in collision and a 1.7 per cent jump in comprehensive coverage.

MFA insures 89,400 persons in Arkansas. If the rate increase is granted, the company will receive an additional $396,300 yearly in premiums.

Way Opened to End Eight Week Strike

By STEPHEN H. WILDSTROM
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and General Motors Corp. today reached a tentative agreement on a new labor contract which could put the strike-crippled auto giant close to full production by the end of the month.

Details of the settlement were withheld until later in the day after a meeting of the union's 350-member GM council which must okay the pact before it is put before the rank-and-file for ratification.

"The cost of the settlement is substantially more than the anticipated increase of productivity," Earl Bramblett, GM's top bargainer, said when asked whether the pact was inflationary.

"That's the general definition of inflation," he added.

Sources close to the bargaining table said the three-year pact included these items:

—A union demand for a return to an unlimited cost-of-living wage escalator under which workers wages move up or down according to quarterly adjustments in the Consumer Price Index.

—Retirement at $500 a month for workers with 30 years service at age 58 in the first year of the contract, at age 56 in the second year of the contract and at age 55 in the third year. Under the old agreement a person retiring at age 55 with 30 years of service would have received a maximum of $104.22 monthly.

—A first year wage increase of about 50 cents over the current average hourly wage of $4.02.

—Four weeks vacation after 20 years service.

The pace of bargaining which led to the new contract was stepped up on Oct. 30. The final details of the agreement were put together in two long sessions, a 17-hour one which began Monday morning and the final one which began Tuesday morning and ended early today.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock met briefly with newsmen following the announcement of the pact but declined to reveal any details.

Woodcock then took the proposed contract to the union's 25-member International Executive Board, which must approve it before it is presented to the GM council, which represents the 162 bargaining units the UAW has at GM in Canada and the United States.

The new contract covers more than 394,000 workers at 155 UAW bargaining units in the United States. Negotiations continue on a new contract covering 22,100 workers at seven Canadian bargaining units.

GM had said it needed a settlement by today if it is to get back in production by Dec. 1.

Bramblett said the return to production would be difficult and complex and that each plant had its own plan relating to startup. He said maintenance workers at a plant would be called in as soon as a local agreement is reached and that others would be called back as soon as their services could be utilized.

"The prompt conclusion of the remaining local agreements is essential to the resumption of full production, a task for both our management and the union," Bramblett said.

Ninety of the 162 bargaining units have settled their local pacts. That includes 40 out of 54 plants which are key to GM's production.

Woodcock emphasized that today's agreement covers national issues only and that local unions are free to strike over local pacts.
